

LRP's National Institute Logo Style Guide

The National Institute logo is the cornerstone of our brand identity.

It is our signature; the mark of LRP's National Institute on Legal Issues of Educating Individuals with Disabilities® ownership of our event, services and messages. By downloading our logo, you are agreeing to the terms of its use.

Downloading this artwork you agree to the following:

The logo design and the artwork you are about to download is the intellectual property of the copyright and/or trademark holder (LRP Media Group) and is offered to you as a convenience for lawful use with proper permission from the copyright and/or trademark holder only. You hereby agree that you agree to the Terms of Use and that the artwork you download will be used for non-commercial use without infringing on the rights of the copyright and/or trademark holder and in compliance with the DMCA act of 1998. Before you use or reproduce this artwork in any manner, you agree to obtain the express permission of the copyright and/or trademark holder. Failure to obtain such permission is a violation of international copyright and trademark laws subject to specific financial and criminal penalties.

Working with the National Institute logo

To establish the full identity of our event, the logo should be used in its official, unaltered form, i.e., do not stretch, change colors, enlarge to the point of pixilation, manually type the letterforms, or otherwise modify the logo. This is important in order to maintain consistency in the logo's appearance and ensure visual integrity.

Please contact kbaier@lrp.com with any questions you have about the usage of our logo.
